Attached is an [redacted] item from Moscow which says that the foreign ministers' meeting could be held after a summit meeting. This is a consistent Soviet line. We have heard through the grape vine that a State Department briefing officer misinterpreted this item as saying a foreign ministers' meeting could be held before a summit meeting and that this erroneous impression was spread through high circles in the Government and possibly was the basis for the call for an NSC meeting.

Without reference to any misinterpretation of this item, [redacted] item setting the record straight. Nothing may come of this ~~mis~~interpretation in State, but I believe you should be informed in case anything further develops.
